Brief Report on the Event

The one-week training program on reasoning aptitude and verbal ability was conducted with the aim of enhancing the participants' skills in critical thinking, problem-solving, and effective communication. The program included a well-balanced mix of theory, practical exercises, and group discussions.

Day 1: Reasoning & Aptitude - After introduction, the participants were exposed to different types of reasoning, including deductive, inductive, and adductive reasoning. Basic logic and critical thinking principles were covered, followed by hands-on practice with puzzles and logical problems.

Day 2: Verbal Ability - Vocabulary-building techniques were introduced, with an emphasis on effective word memorization. The afternoon session covered grammar essentials and common grammatical errors, followed by grammar exercises.

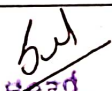

Day 3: Reasoning & Aptitude - Analytical reasoning was introduced and various problem-solving techniques were focused upon. In the afternoon, the focus shifted to visual reasoning skills with engaging visual puzzles and exercises.

Day 4: Verbal Ability – Focus was laid on strategies for reading comprehension, enabling participants to analyze passages and answer related questions. In the afternoon, critical reading skills were honed, with critical reading exercises serving as practical application.

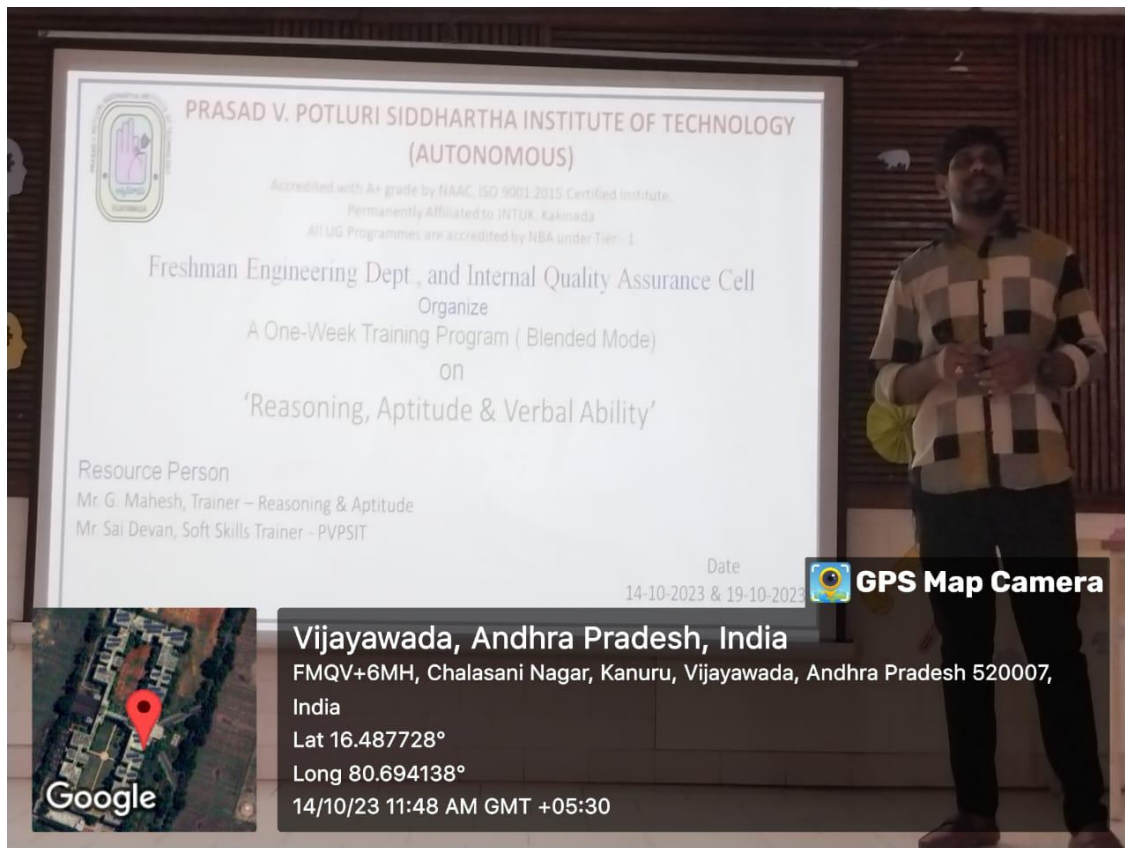

Day 5: Reasoning & Aptitude - Logical and Abstract Reasoning Logical reasoning were explained where participants grasped the fundamentals and applied them to solve logical problems. The afternoon was dedicated to abstract reasoning, with abstract puzzles and exercises challenging participants' skills.

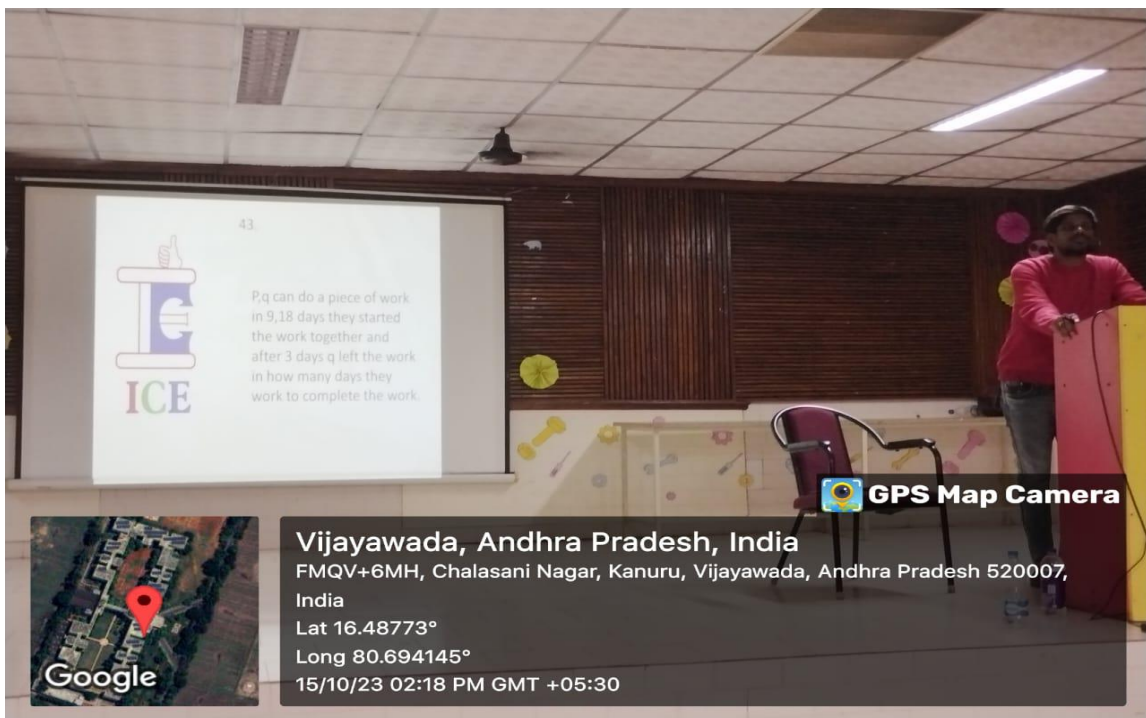

Day 6: Verbal Ability – Focus was on effective writing techniques and tips for clear and concise communication. Participants engaged in various writing exercises. In the afternoon, they explored presenting ideas effectively and participated in communication exercises.

Day 7: Practice sessions were conducted both in Reasoning & Aptitude and Verbal Ability
